

Some 25 years ago I was blessed with my first child. I resolved to do everything within my power for the sake of my children.

Healthy natural foods, and the support of my children, gave me the vitality and strength to cope with all the challenges life brings.

I became convinced that healthy natural food is the essential basis for a healthy body and a healthy mind.

Growing vegetables and grains without chemicals or artificial fertilizers became my passion.

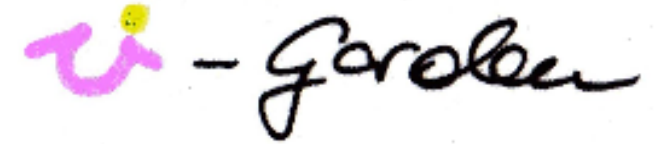

In time my land grew more and more healthy and fertile, and I found every year the harvest yielded more than I had expected.

That's when I decided to create my own line of delicious, healthy jams and pickles.

U-Garden products are grown almost entirely in my own biodynamic fields and orchards, and come with my 100% quality guarantee.

I love my little fields. Although I can grow only a limited amount, keeping things small allows me to take charge of every part and every stage of producing the U-Garden line.
